

Teacher Openings 2025/26

Christian Central Academy, an independent, PreK-12 Christian day school with a vibrant, Christian learning community located in Williamsville, New York invites applications for our current employment opportunities for the 2025-26 school year (Please see job listings below), with service to begin in August 2025.

The Academy seeks experienced teachers and staff who will foster a deep love of learning and engage students in understanding and inquiry within an environment of student care. The Academy requires not only professional demeanor and solid Christian role modeling, but also a deep engagement with the Academy's learning community.

The applicants, who teach, should be able to teach their subjects well. Successful candidates will have a deep background in pedagogy and be able to employ 21st century teaching methods. The candidates may have to differentiate instruction for multiple levels of student ability due to diverse experiences of the students.

Academy faculty members must be collaborative and exhibit a growth mindset. Effective communication with parents and colleagues is crucial to student success and as such is non-negotiable at the Academy. Faculty members are responsible for communicating via formal scheduled parent-teacher conferences and progress reports, as well as via additional conferences and informal communications. Faculty are responsible to maintain up-to-date records of academic performance through the support of a web-based student information system to which students and parents regularly refer.

Since its founding 75 years ago, Christian Central Academy has nurtured students in

1. understanding the need for a personal commitment to Christ;
2. academic excellence;
3. comprehending the importance of and equipping for a life of service;
4. growing toward a mature understanding of our society, history, and natural worlds;
5. developing in physical ability and strength; and
6. exhibiting appropriate social courtesies.

The Academy believes this is best accomplished through hiring mature Christians who are equipped to communicate these values through both instruction and personal example. Christian Central Academy invites professional educators with interest and proven capability in working in such a setting. Ideal teaching candidates will possess a graduate degree, certification in the appropriate field of study, and successful teaching experience. However, novice teachers with a bachelor's degree will be considered. The Academy highly values the after-hours experiences of students and seeks to hire faculty who can support its co-curricular program.

Qualified candidates should submit a resume with references, cover letter, and completed CCA application. Application forms and reference request forms are available at the school website <https://www.christianca.com/employment/>. For more information regarding Christian Central Academy, please visit its website at www.christianca.com.
